SEVEN MEET DEATH IN RAILWAY WRECK

Sixteen Hurt, Several Fatally, When Broken Wheel Throws Car from Trestle Near Atlanta—Fall 50 Feet Into Creek.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13.—Seven persons were killed and 16 injured yesterday when a passenger coach on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad was derailed near Union City, 18 miles from Atlanta. The car went off a trestle and fell 50 feet

Thirty persons were in the coach, the last of the train, when one of the wheels burst. The trestle was reached and almost crossed when the car suddenly turned over, tearing away from the one ahead as it fell into the shallow creek.

Six men and one woman were killed, and several of the injured are not expected to live. For hours rescue parties worked in the wreckage, releasing those imprisoned and removing the dead, the injured being taken to hospitals here.

List of the Dead.

The following list of dead was issued by officials of the railroad last night

ELMORE, C. T., cashier local station A. B. & A. Railroad Company.
McINTOSH, W. E., Imperial Hotel. New York city.
DRIVER, B. C., Roanoke, Ala.
JOHNSON, W. E., Birmingham, Ala.
LANIER, R W., operator, Senoia, Ga.
ETHERIDGE, Mrs. I. H., Atlanta, Ga.
BROOKS, W. M., Western Union Telegraph Company, Manchester, Ga.

A graphic description of the wreck was given by H. F Hentz who was seated in the front of the car and escaped without injury An irregular motion of the car just before the trestle was reached was the first indication that something was wrong, he said.

"About five seconds later," continued Mr. Hentz, "we suddenly plunged backward into space. A crash followed, and there were screams from all portions of the car.

"Those of us who occupied the front section when we regained our senses, looked for an avenue of escape An opening was found through the front door. I managed to assist the three women who were with me through the opening and then returned to help the others.

Fine Exhibitions of Courage.

"One young man, apparently crushed was the first person I found He refused to let me help him, but urged me to assist the women and children. He sat there calmly smoking a cigarette, as if nothing out of the ordinary had occurred. I learned later that this young man was Willard Cope, a newspaperman.

"I have never seen such wonderful courage as that of the women passengers. Several were seriously injured, but without exception they implored members of the rescue party to pass them by and help others who were in worse condition.

"Another example of courage displayed by one of the women convinces me that in a crisis of that kind women are possessed with greater nerve than are men. This little woman looked as if she were dying. Her face was as white as a sheet. I bent over and asked her how she was feeling.

"'I'm all right. Don't bother me. Help the others,' she said. Before I left the wreck she was being taken to an ambulance. I again asked her if there was anything I could do for her. She shook her head."

B. L. Bugg, receiver of the railroad, issued a formal statement last night stating that the accident was caused by the breaking of a new wheel on the front truck of the coach.

RACHMANINOFF PLAYS AT STEINERT CONCERT

Great Pianist Wins Ovation at Recital in Shubert Theatre.

With Sergei Rachmaninoff at the piano, the fourth and final concert in the second Steinert series of the season was given yesterday in the Shubert Majestic Theatre, a large audience assembling to hear one of the greatest musicians of modern times. Rachmaninoff, pianist and composer, is more than a great exponent of the Russian school; he is one of the foremost music masters of the present period, a real genius, who will always hold a high place in the annals of music.

Liszt, Grieg, Chopin, Dohnanyi, Fritz Kreisler and the player himself are the composers represented on the programme, and the varied works selected were played with the insight and sympathetic understanding of a true master. His own two numbers were enthusiastically received, and the artist was twice recalled to bow his acknowledgments of the applause which they inspired.

The Chopin group created a remarkable impression, particularly the delightful valse in D-flat major, which was played in inimitable style and brought forth compelling applause, the artist responding with another Chopin number. Again, after the Rachmaninoff arrangement of Kreisler's "Liebesleid," given with rare beauty of style, the theatre was swept with delighted applause, and the regular programme was brought to a close with the Liszt tarantella, which was played with a dazzling technical power and finish that won an ovation for the player

Two added numbers were played, Rachmaninoff's own prelude in C-sharp minor, and "Troika" by Tschaikowsky, before the audience was willing to leave the theatre. The programme follows.

Ballade No. 3	Liszt
Ballade Op. 24	Grieg
Ballade No. 3	Chopin
Nocturne Op. 27	Chopin
Valse in D-flat major	Chopin
Scherzo Op. 39	Chopin
Etude Tableaux	Rachmaninoff
Polka de W. R.	Rachmaninoff
Etude (Capriccio) Op. 23	Dohnanyi
Liebesleid	Kreisler-Rachmaninoff
Tarantella (Venezia e Napoli)	Liszt

NEED OF EDUCATION OF MOUNTAINEERS TOLD

Native Kentuckian Pleads for Ignorant Whites of His State.

PROVIDENCE, March 13—Dr Jonathan C. Day, for 10 years director of the Presbyterian Labor Temple on the East Side of New York, described in graphic fashion before a large audience in the Beneficent Congregational Church last evening the plight of a lost people living within the confines of the United States, victims of ignorance and exploitation, for whom the forces of violent radicalism and the influences of intelligent education were held to be eagerly contending

Dr. Day, who has severed his connection with the Labor Temple in order to devote several years to the work of advertising Berea College, an institution situated in the mountains of Kentucky and having for its purpose the development and culture of the primitive folk who live in that district, took for his topic, "Radicalism and How to Meet It in America."

Dr Day is himself a mountaineer and until he reached the age of 17 years had received no education whatever At that time he left his home and after a varied experience, graduated from the University of Chicago His training in economics and political science, coupled with a broader vision and deeper understanding, have produced in him an intense desire to assist in the elevation of the sturdy but untutored people of his native hills.

The secluded districts of the South Dr Day sees as the breeding nests of destructive radicalism Hills and valleys which were formerly the property of the free mountaineers, are now owned by outside financial interests, he says, and the lands which capitalists purchased for nominal sums are now yielding vast wealth in coal, oil and gas.

"To the fighting, sturdy stock of America, brought up in ignorance among these mountains," said Dr Day, "the radical says, 'Aha, I see you are digging on these grounds. Yes, you're making a lot of money for somebody else. But, let's see, you used to own this land yourself, didn't you? H'm, and now the owner sits behind a mahogany desk in New York and Philadelphia and tells you to work—work for him.'

"And the mountaineer, who a little while ago believed that the only way to settle his quarrel was to kill the man who had killed his brother, is ready to take up his rifle and fire it at the man who is making money from the soil bought for practically nothing."

"Multiply 2 times 2 by nothing and you have—nothing!" said Dr Day "That is a fundamental equation Multiply anything by nothing, and you have nothing The progress of civilization is an equation. It is the product of natural resources, multiplied by natural intelligence, multiplied by culture. And in the southern mountains, the factor of culture is zero. Hence, the whole product must be nothing

"The only approach to the problem, the only solution of the problem of the increase in radicalism, is organized, well developed intelligence."

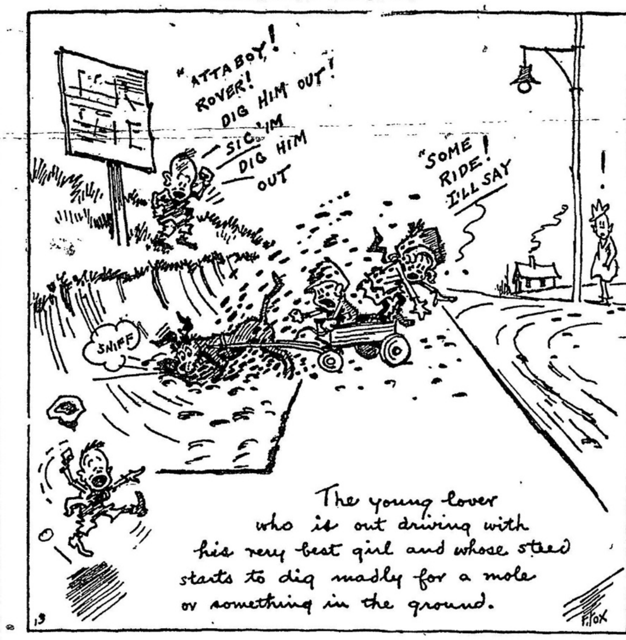
PATHETIC FIGURES—



VICE-CONSUL KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Daniel J. Sullivan Was on Leave from Duty in East Prussia—Companion, New York Artist, Is Badly Injured

TAUNTON, March 13—Daniel J Sullivan, 25, United States vice-consul at Danzig, East Prussia, and a graduate of Yale in 1921, was instantly killed early yesterday, when an automobile in which he was returning to Fall River from a trip to Boston, overturned on the state highway in North Raynham

William Travis Banton, 27, an artist son of Rentford B Banton of 144 East Thirty-sixth street, New York city, who was also in the machine is in a serious condition at the Morton Hospital in this city Physicians stated late tonight that he has a good chance for recovery Mr and Mrs. Banton, parents of the injured man, came here last night, after learning of the accident Joab Banton, district attorney of New York county, is a brother of Travis Banton

Sullivan was the son of Daniel F Sullivan of 413 Hood street, Fall River a prominent shoe dealer and president of the Fall River Rotary Club He served in the French ambulance service during the early part of the World War and on his return enlisted in the aviation service

Upon his graduation from Yale last June he was appointed to the consular service at Danzig, and was given leave of absence about a month ago It was while on board the steamer Paris, bound for America, that he met Banton and invited him to visit Fall River Banton went there late last week, and Saturday afternoon the two young men went to Boston to visit friends

The accident occurred while they were returning during a light snow storm Sullivan was driving and Banton was asleep on the rear seat, he told physicians at the hospital after he had regained consciousness. State highway inspectors and state police who investigated the accident yesterday expressed the opinion that it was caused when the machine struck a frog in a street railway switch

Banton Collapses on Road.

Waite, Leach of North Raynham heard the crash at 4 30 a. m and, going to investigate, met Banton walking in a daze While returning to the scene of the accident, Banton collapsed and became unconscious He was taken to the hospital in a police ambulance

Sullivan was lying in the road with his skull crushed The automobile, a large touring car, with its engine running and lights on, was overturned and had completely turned around The body was taken to undertaking rooms in Fall River Medical Examiner Charles A Atwood will conduct an inquest tomorrow.

Sullivan had planned to return to Washington last evening, to receive a promotion in the consular service. Besides his father, he leaves three sisters and two brothers

WIFE SUES PARENTS OF STUDENT HUSBAND IN ALIENATION CASE

RUTLAND, Vt., March 13—United States Deputy Marshal Frank Chapman has served writs on Thomas S Nelson, wealthy slate quarry owner of West Pawlet and his wife, Kate W Nelson, as defendants in a $50,000 suit brought in the Federal District Court here by their daughter-in-law, Nell Rudsil Nelson of Lincolntown, N C, who charges them with alienating the affections of her husband, Romeyn W Nelson, a Harvard law school student

The plaintiff was married to young Nelson Dec. 29, 1917, at Charlotte, N. C. They lived for a short time in Pawlet, and then separated Aug 5, 1918, when she returned to her home in North Carolina. The junior Mrs Nelson, who is about 10 years older than her husband, alleges that his parents "by threats and intimidation, enticed him to leave her." The case will be tried during the May term of the United States District Court here Jones & Jones and John Redmond of Newport are counsel for the plaintiff.

BOSTON, March 13.—Romeyn Webster Nelson is in the second-year class at the Harvard law school He was graduated from Williams College in 1920 and entered Harvard law school the following September. He rooms in a student lodging house at 40 Kirkland street, Cambridge, conducted by Mrs. William A. Browster He could not be seen Saturday evening.

District Court Happenings

Two men were fined $5 and costs for drunkenness in the District Court this forenoon, they having been sent in from Elm and Main streets by Patrolman Jeffers One came out from Providence, and his story to the police was that he did not remember anything after he had taken two drinks He had but one leg, having lost the other member in a railroad accident

A third man was fined for operating an automobile without a license, and he pleaded not guilty to being drunk and operating an automobile while intoxicated, and was held for a trial next Monday

In the court Sunday morning Nelson Ouimette, aged 48 years, with no residence given was arrested as an idle person he having been arrested by Patrolmen Collinson and Scanlon He first pleaded not guilty, and when his time for trial was named for today he said he would retract, after which he was sentenced to the state farm for 6 months. He told the court that he had been in this city two days. The police say that he is among those who went out on strike in the mills at Pontiac.

Six men were before the judge for drunkenness, all being fined $5 and costs Two were found in Main street, 2 in North Main street and 1 one each in Walcott street and Broadway. The officers who made the arrests were Lieut. Lee, Sergt. Flynn and Patrolmen Hinchcliffe, Truesdale, Borsay and Mathieu.

PROTESTS HUNT FOR GREAT PLESIOSAURIAN

Let Prehistoric Animal Live and Produce, Society Urges.

BUENOS AYRES, March 13.—By the Associated Press.—A protest against the killing or capture of the plesiosaurian monster reported seen in an Andean lake in Patagonia has been raised before the ministry of interior by the "Sociedad Protectora De Los Animals," which corresponds to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The society urges that if such an antediluvian creature exists, it be allowed to roam its native heath unmolested

Invoking law 2786, dealing with cruelty to animals, the society demands that the expedition which proposes to bring back the animal dead or alive to the Buenos Aires zoo be prohibited.

The protest is voiced in a letter by Dr Albarracin, head of the society who calls on the ministry to instruct the Governor of Chubut, a territory in the southern part of Argentine occupying part of the tableland of Patagonia, to investigate the truth of the report, and, if that is established, "to do what is necessary in fulfillment of said law to prevent the hunting or capture of it in any form, leaving it in peace, by reason of its being a valuable specimen which ought to enjoy full liberty and be allowed to reproduce itself"

Dr Albarracin asserts that, like the penguin, it would probably die if brought North, by reason of the change of climate and adds "If scientists want to study the creature, let them do it in a humane way in its habitat while it is enjoying full liberty."

Meanwhile, Prof Onelli, who first announced the existence of the animal says the expedition will start at the end of the week, provided additional funds are forthcoming.

Barton A. Ballou.

PROVIDENCE March 13 —The death of Barton A. Ballou, for many years head of the B A Ballou & Co., Inc., manufacturing jewelers, occurred early yesterday morning at his home, 61 Congdon street Mr Ballou was in his 87th year, and until about a week ago attended personally to his business affairs.

Mr Ballou was born in Cumberland, the son of Rev Barton and Deborah (Rathbone) Ballou His father died when he was 9 years of age, and he was thrown upon his own resources.

Mr Ballou was a veteran of the Civil war, and upon his discharge from service he resumed his work as a jeweler In 1868 he purchased an interest in the firm of Rathbone & Richards, the next year the firm became the B. A. Ballou & Co., and in 1906 was incorporated.

Mr Ballou was actively identified with many social, business and philanthropic associations He was at times director in the Manufacturing Jewelers' Board of Trade and in the New England Manufacturing Jewelers' and Silversmiths' Association.

He was twice married, his first wife dying without children. He married Nov 28, 1867, at Blackstone, Mass., Miss Mary Rathbone, who survives him, with two sons and a daughter, Frederick Allan, Charles Rathbone and Alice May Ballou.

Mr. Ballou was always interested in everything pertaining to the uplift and welfare of this city, and recently gave the city a tract of land with buildings on Prospect street, adjoining Prospect Terrace, to be devoted to public park purposes.

RILEY IS HELD IN BONDS OF $25,000

Providence Man Who Is Alleged to Have Threatened East Providence Priest with Death, Assaulted Officer and Broke Into and Entered Building.

PROVIDENCE, March 13—"I didn't enter your place to steal but to cut your throat," was one of the statements made in a letter to Rev John H. McKenna, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, East Providence, following the entering of the church rectory early last Tuesday morning by a man who shot and seriously wounded Patrolman Walter S. Haskins, who went to the rectory in response to a telephone call from Fr McKenna.

As a result of the letter, Raymond Riley, 19, of 15 Cherry street, was arrested yesterday and faced charges of burglary, assault and threatening to kill in connection with the break at the rectory in the District Court at East Providence yesterday morning

The police say Riley has admitted sending the letter, but that he denies having been the man who entered the rectory and shot the patrolman. With the letter was a clipping from a newspaper containing an account of the conviction of Riley last Wednesday for carrying a concealed weapon and another of the arrest of several other persons.

Early last Tuesday morning Fr. McKena was awakened and found a man crouching under his window The man demanded admittance, but Fr McKenna refused and telephoned the police In the meantime the man entered the rectory through another window, and when Patrolman Haskins arrived to make an investigation fired a shot, which struck the officer, allowing the intruder a chance to escape.

Riley was arraigned in the East Providence District Court this morning on three charges, namely, breaking and entering, violent assault on Policeman Haskins, and threatening in writing. He pleaded not guilty to all three charges, but was held for a hearing on March 24 on all three, the bonds asked being $10,000 on the first two and $5000 on the last charge.
